VALENTINE'S DAY KILLERS

Teenage carjackers sentenced for stabbing 17-year-old to death

by Piers Meyler

BBC local democracy reporter

A BARKING teenager was one of five teens to be jailed for murdering a 17-year-old in Newham.

Lord Promise Nkenda, known as Promise, was murdered on Valentine's Day 2018.

In a premeditated attack, the group of five – driving a stolen BMW – ran him over and stabbed him repeatedly in the head and back.

The group were sentenced at the Old Bailey on Monday, February 4.

All five had previously denied murder but were found guilty.

Ephraim Idris, 18, of Dovehouse Mead, Barking, was sentenced to 16 years' detention in a young offender institution or prison.

Anton Muir, 18, from the Forest

Gate area was sentenced to 17 years' detention in a young offender institution or prison.

Ahmed Musa Abdille, 18, and Shamar Dawes, 18, both from the Forest Gate area, were sentenced to 18 years' detention in a young offender institution or prison.

A 15-year-old boy from Forest Gate, who cannot be named for legal reasons, was sentenced to 14 years' detention in a young offender institution or prison.

All five will have the time served on remand before sentencing subtracted from the length of their sentences.

The court heard that on Wednesday, February 14, 2018, the group carjacked a BMW from a woman in Fairland Road, Stratford, at about 6pm.

Just hours later, the car was used as a battering ram to knock Promise down after he was located in Canning Town.

Promise attempted to escape, running down Butchers Road towards Goldwing Close, but the group chased him down before jumping out and stabbing him repeatedly.

Police were called by the London Ambulance Service shortly after 8pm. Promise was pronounced dead at the scene at 8.38pm.

Promise's brother, Patrick, told of the families devastation following the convictions in December.

"We feel empty and numb, but most of all incredibly sad. A part of us all died with him, alone on that east London street," he said.

A post-mortem examination the following day gave the cause of death as stab wounds to the chest.

Officers found the stolen BMW crashed nearby in Victoria Dock Road and a knife and pair of latex gloves were discovered near the crime scene and forensically linked to the attack.

DCI Dave Whellams, who led the investigation, said: "This group acted together from start to finish to execute this murder. They were ruthless in their determination to kill Promise and have refused to cooperate with police from the outset."

"Promise had his whole life ahead of him and wanted to pursue a career in the music industry. He stood no chance against the onslaught this group inflicted on him."

"The calculated nature of this attack where criminality like car-jacking was just a means to an end is also disturbing and I can only hope that today's verdict serves as some comfort to Promise's family."

BRIGHT FUTURES: The new class of nursing associates with chief nurse Kathryn Halford OBE, centre

Praise for new batch of nursing graduates

by Lewis Berrill

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

THE new nursing associate role has the potential to transform nursing, a senior NHS nurse has said.

Kathryn Halford OBE, chief nurse at Barking, Havering and Redbridge University Hospitals NHS Trust, delivered the assessment as the trust's first class of nursing associates graduated.

On Tuesday, January 29, the trust which runs Queen's and King George hospitals, gathered to celebrate the 29 associates who graduated following two years' training.

The trust was one of the first in the country to pilot the nursing associate programme after the role was introduced in 2017.

Chief nurse Halford said: "This new role has the potential to transform the nursing and care workforce. I can't wait for them to start working on our wards and wish them the best of luck as they continue to learn their craft."

"I'm really excited that this role gives more people the chance to progress in their careers. Some may even eventually become registered nurses if that's where their interests lie. It's a very positive opportunity."

Jill Alingbas, a nursing associate graduate, said: "I've always wanted to get into nursing but because I was a single mum, I couldn't afford university fees as well as lose my wages."

"The trainee nursing associate role was ideal for me because I could learn and earn at the same time so I could continue to support my family."

"I have loved going back to university and meeting new people. The whole experience has really boosted my confidence and given me the courage to believe I can do anything I put my mind to."

"There have been times when I thought it was tough and demanding, but I did it and so my advice to everyone is take the chance, it is worth it."

Magazine pair fined

THE company behind a magazine aimed at getting teenagers into business has been ordered to pay thousands of pounds after dozens of young people were caught trying to sell it without a licence.

David Sonowo and Darren Olawale, the directors of Inside Success Union, have been banned from street trading in Barking and Dagenham and must pay £2,500 to the council.

Inside Success is sold on the street for £5 and gives teenagers information about mentoring and ways into business.

British rappers, grime artists and actor Idris Elba have featured on the front cover.

Enforcement officers said they saw between 15 and 20 young people trying to sell the publication in Barking town centre in July last year.

The directors of the company, which is based in Stockwell, were fined at the time and told they must get a trader licence.

However, the group continued to sell in Barking town centre and the company was hauled before Romford County Court this month.

Councillor Margaret Mullane, cabinet member for enforcement and community safety, said: "We're determined to stamp out the actions of people who undermine our valued businesses and traders."

"We know residents are concerned about rogue traders and we'll continue to look out for anyone breaking the rules."

"We won't hesitate to prosecute any traders found doing this."

BOOK EARLY TO AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT

Laser Mayhem in Essex near London offers the latest in cutting edge outdoor Laser Tag technology making it more of an intense and gripping game than your average Quazer and Laser Quest days out. Our laser tag equipment is brilliant for days out, birthday parties, stag and hen, and corporate events.

We are based in Abridge, Essex just off the north circular, M11 and M25; so Mayhem is easily accessible from London by car or you can also get to us on the Tube via Theydon-Bois station on the London Central Line (30min from Liverpool St) where we offer a free pick up and drop off service.

Laser Mayhem is the ideal venue for birthday parties from the ages of 7 to 80, what could be better than hiding behind: tanks, planes, helicopters, forts and cars? What could be more thrilling than: rescuing pilots, taking out enemy generals and team elimination games? If you're a parent you can either get involved and play or have 2 hours of peace and quiet with complimentary tea available and a heated conference hall to relax in whilst we wear out your 'little soldiers' for you.

Mayhem's Team Building is second to none; Outdoor Laser Tag is a great way for your company to bond and develop into a team whilst having fun and getting any office grudges sorted by shooting each other! We can tailor make a team building day to fit your needs; we have 2 conference rooms and we can also offer a buffet lunch in our team building packages ensuring noone goes hungry during your 'office war'. If you're coming from London we are just off the north circular and M25, otherwise we also offer a free pick up from London underground Theydon Bois station.

Mayhem Laser Tag has over 20 playing fields, 8 of these are dedicated soely to laser tag but we also can use the extra Patinballing fields when Paintballing is finished (normally around 3:30pm onwards).

With our laser tag equipment you can shoot an opponent from 300m away, they are deadly accurate if you use the scope on the laser tagger. If you shoot someone on their gun or on their head, their gun will shout "Ow" telling the player that they have lost a life, when a player gets tagged 7 times their gun will shout "Man down Man down" and will stop them from being able to shoot anyone, then they will be out for the remainder of that game, we normally play at least 10 games in a 2 hour session.
